FTC Disclosure

The FTC requires any person producing or hosting content on a website that can be accessed publicly, outside of a network, to disclose any financial interest or bias, relating to recommendations or opinions may be financially motivated in any way.

Threegirlscientists.com has always been an advocate for the patient and does not have financial interest or bias in any drug company or cannabis based business.

Affiliate Links

All of our content is produced first without any financial motivation. There may be affiliate links in our content from time to time, that are linked after the piece is created, where it makes sense. Threegirlscientists.com has few affiliates and the affiliates we do select, we believe are of the highest quality who are held to the same high standards threegirlscientists.com holds itself to.

Threegirlscientists.com we specifically link at the bottom of the post, where sources and other disclaimers may appear, if affiliate links are present. If you click on a link that takes you to a product outside of our website, assume it is an affiliate link. This means threegirlscientists.com may earn a small commission from our affiliates if the user decides to purchase the linked product. Again, threegirlscientists.com is very selective with the few affiliates that we partner with and we appreciate you supporting threegirlscientists.com and affiliate products when you make these purchases. Most of the content on threegirlscientists.com is informational and intended to help patients navigate the cannabis and medication space, which can be extremely confusing and filled with misinformation.

Marketing

At the time this has been updated threegirlscientists.com does not have any marketing partners. Threegirlscientists.com may contract outside marketing firms to create content for us, but in no way are paid by any outside or affiliate company for specific content, including any post or blog. We work with these firms to create the most useful content for our users and demographics to provide as much help, in the limited capacity we are able to, as we can.

Other Policies

Comments on our website, social media and any other place comments may appear, may be moderated for SPAM, Personal Health Information (PHI), and language that is rude, offensive, harmful, hateful, concerning and/or contains misinformation, and for any other reason. Moderation includes banning, shadow banning and/or deletion. By commenting on any content produced by threegirlscientists.com, including social media posts, you agree to this policy and understand any violation of any part of this policy may result in a comment being hidden or deleted and possibly being banned.
