

We recognize there is quite literally a ton of information on this topic-we have scrolled through the search results too! One of the main reasons we started Three Girl Scientists was because a lot of the information we found was misleading. You deserve better than that. Everyone does. You need a trusted healthcare professional and resource to talk to you about your medications and cannabis.

We know there are doctors, pharmacists, and other healthcare professional that won't even discuss cannabis. The reason is either, one, they don't know enough about it to help, or two, they have some reservations about cannabis. That's okay, let them be. You are here and we can talk. We are scientist. We look at the science. We use the best information we have available to us now and we help people. That's it. That is why we are here and that is what we do.

We have educated ourselves and understand the physiological pathways of THC and CBD. We know they are working on receptors in our body via the endocannabinoid system. We know our body makes our own versions- anandamide and 2-arachidonoyl glycerol (2-AG). We are smart. You are smart. We also recognize that the use of any drug whether it be prescription or plant can come with risks-it could be side effects and/or drug interactions. It is our job to recognize these so you can be the safest when using cannabis and your medications.

We will be launching online consulting services soon! Stay safe and we will talk science soon.

All the best always,

Katy Charoensatit

PharmD, RPh

University of Vermont School of Medicine
Cannabis Science and Medical Professional Certified

Member of International Society of Cannabis Pharmacists

Founder and CEO of Three Girl Scientists